Alli Stovall, a North Carolina native, has overcome her fair share of challenges. She moved to Charleston, South Carolina, and pursued a Bachelor's Degree in Entrepreneurship at Charleston Southern University where she was a Division I cheerleader. She now works in nonprofit development and marketing.

In her efforts to give back, Alli founded 'Armor of Knowledge,' a youth organization that imparts foundational life skills. This project also inspired her to write a children's book, 'Seeing Red.' Alli's journey includes her role as Miss Lowcountry in the Miss America organization.
